Spiritual Wisdom on Health and Healing

Divine Spirit often heals through the field of medicine and guides you to the doctor who is right for your condition. Yet the ways of healing by Divine Spirit are truly endless. And many times, an individual who has received relief does not connect it back to Spirit, but feels he has stumbled upon help by chance.

Many of you, however, are more ready and able to begin moving seriously on the path to God than you have ever been before.

This means that you learn to take responsibility for your own life, for your own health, for your own economics. You try to become self-sufficient. We have strength inside to accept the spiritual power that's here to help us come into accord with these strange new forces that are all around us.

All the help that comes to us is from the Holy Spirit, whether it comes in a dream or through the help of a friend or a doctor. The trick is the discrimination you need: to tell what's good for you and what's not good for you.

This comes by listening to your heart.

The Silver Lining

There's an old saying that every cloud has a silver lining. When a cloud comes into your life, look for the silver lining because it's there. If you can't see what the silver lining in the cloud is, sing HU. This will open your heart so you can say, "Thy will be done."

This is the real meaning of the word HU. It's adopting the attitude "Not my will, but thy will."

If you pray to God, be thankful for the gift of life. Thank God for that, then go on and handle the rest of your life as best you can.
